Applying for Federal Jobs as a Student

Layne Washington
Human Resources Business Advisor
NOAA | Office of Human Capital Services
Consulting Branch A, National Weather Service
Western, Pacific, and Alaska Regions

ABSTRACT

This presentation provides an in-depth guide to applying for federal jobs, offering insights into the unique hiring process used by the U.S. government. Attendees will learn about USAJOBS, the official portal for federal job applications, and how to effectively search for and identify opportunities that match their qualifications. The session will cover essential elements such as creating a competitive federal resume, understanding the various hiring authorities, and preparing for the distinct application and interview process. Special attention will be given to understanding federal job announcements, addressing specialized experience requirements, and utilizing resources for veterans, students, and individuals with disabilities. By the end of the presentation, participants will be equipped with the knowledge and tools to successfully navigate the federal job market and enhance their chances of securing employment in public service.
